Note from the Pastor

Thoughts on Turning 70

I love milestone years. They give us a nice marker on our life's journey. They always involve a letting go of the old so as to enter the new. The time in between is always sacred. It is called liminal (threshold) space and I find myself once again entering into it. And while it is disorienting, it is also liberating. In the vulnerability of having to let go of the old and not yet coming into the new we are in a space where God can really get to us. And as I enter my seventh decade, and having gone through this many times before, I can honestly say to God, "Bring it on." And I'm sure He will.

Each epoch of our life has its own tasks, trials, learnings and insights. Most will have a number of 'Aha' moments when all of a sudden we see it, we get it, and our life changes. Each one brings us deeper and deeper into the heart of the Divine to help us to discover how to be truly human. As I get older, there seems to be a pretty good mixture of the human and Divine. I am coming to the point where I can't tell one from the other. We are not human beings trying to be spiritual; we are spiritual beings understanding what it means to be truly human. And to be truly human is to dwell in the Divine. It has taken me 70 years to come to that realization.

In a few days we will begin the holy season of Lent. It is a time where we are invited to enter into that liminal space in dying to the old man (woman) and being born into the new. It is a time of transformation. On March 3, 1965 I turned 21 years old on Ash Wednesday... under the old, strict dispensation. I was now legal to drink but couldn't. I wanted to feast but had to fast. So this is what it means to be an adult? It got a little better when I turned 25. I was in graduate school at Indiana University working on a Masters Degree and on my birthday I wore a little sign around my neck proclaiming, "Serving the public for a quarter of a century!" At 16 you think you know everything, at 25 you are sure that you do. At 40, oh dear, oh dear.

When I was 39 years old I jogged the Prairie Path from Christ the King in Lombard to my home in Wheaton, a good 10 miles. It felt pretty good. On the morning of my 40th birthday, I woke up crying in my pillow. Oh dear, half of my life is over and I've done nothing. I dragged myself out of bed, went to Church to celebrate Mass at St. Anne in Oswego and there was a cake with 40 candles on it waiting for me and everyone singing Happy Birthday. I hardly had the energy to blow out the candles. Ugh! It wasn't fun.

But 50 was. By the time I was 50 I was pastor of St. Teresa in Kankakee and I realized I wasn't going to save the world or write the great American novel. It was my Popeye period. I yam what a yam. I was so happy with where I was at the time that I threw myself a birthday party and invited 500 of my closest friends with the theme being the 50's. Poodle skirts and pointy shoes, we had a ball. I've often thought that for a priest, the 50's are his prime. He has been around long enough to know what to do and still has the energy to do it. It was a very good period.

I turned 60 at St. Isidore in Bloomingdale. I have never had much of a bucket list but I had always wanted to do the full Chicago Triathlon. And so I did. A one mile swim in the cold waters of Lake Michigan, a 20 something mile bike ride, and a 6.5 mile run. And I survived. Sixty was just fine.

And now I'm turning 70. When I was a boy, 60 was old. By the time you were 65, you were dead. And now, 70 seems to be the youth of old age. But at least, it is an honest old age. I confess it feels just fine. God has been good to me. My body is somewhat intact, and my mind a little less so but still working well enough. For me it is a big milestone.

As I wrote to you earlier, in the Hindu tradition there are four periods in a person's life: student, householder, forest dweller, and senex (old man) or sanyasi (holy mendicant). God knows I've been a student and for the past 46 years I've been a householder. But it is time to let go of running things and being in charge and making sure that all goes well within my family. It is now time to go off to the forest and so I shall. It is there that I hope to discern God's next step for me. What is He calling me to? What does He want me to do and to be? The gift of the freedom of time to sit and to listen at this point of my life is exquisite. There really is nothing left for me on my bucket list except maybe to see and experience the Sagrada Familia in Barcelona, Spain with my Mexican family. That's it. After that, God will decide.

And so I enter into my 70's. It seems very spacious and uncharted. It is almost oceanic. I know I can continue to do what I have done but I am not sure that is where God is leading me. It is now time to stop, listen and contemplate.

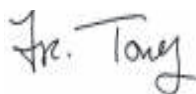

I have always been drawn to the contemplative life simply because I am so poor at it. Faith is to trust and believe in God's presence in my life. Contemplation is to experience it. And I stand ready and open to the experience.

I cannot begin to tell you how grateful I am for the life that God has given to me and the priesthood He has allowed me to share with you all. I have missed many things in my life, my vocation is not one of them. I did not miss my calling. I heard His voice and followed it. My prayer for the future is that I may continue to hear that voice and be open to where it leads me.

I thank you and I bless you for giving me permission to go. It is a most generous gift that you give and I receive it with great joy.

Seventy. It has a nice ring to it. I think I like it.

ARE YOU STUCK IN A PAINFUL PLACE? ARE YOU ARE IN THE NEED OF HEALING?

Calm after the Storm, Peace after the Loss is a day with Father Joseph Breighner to tackle the tough questions following a death or divorce. Do we feel abandoned by God? Do we feel unfairly hurt? Does life stop making sense? Do we feel headed for chaos? Father Joe will skillfully tackle these tough questions on April 5th at St. Margaret Mary Parish in Naperville. He is a story teller "who believes that the stories we tell about our own lives dramatically affect our future." A suggested donation of $35. includes morning coffee, lunch and all materials. COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE BISHOP CRS: Restore the Church. Build the Future

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Soon, the Diocese of Joliet will take up the collection for the Church in Central and Eastern Europe. This Collection funds grants that provide pastoral care, affordable shelter, and a cultural and spiritual education for suffering people who live in areas formerly under Soviet control. This special collection is a way for Catholics in the United States to stand in solidarity with those who experience the continuing aftermath effects of decades of strife in that part of the world. The bishops and people of these regions face the enormous task of restoring church structures while rebuilding the life of the community.

For example, in Bucharest, Romania, the Collection is funding a repair of the New Home Centre. The Centre provides a home for abandoned children, offering them nursery care and preschool education. However, the sisters' building was poorly insulated and overcrowded. The repair and expansion project will provide living quarters for children and a separate kindergarten, ensuring that the children live in a safe and welcoming environment.

Approximately 40,000 Ukrainians die each year from alcoholism, a remnant of the hopelessness fostered by generations of communist oppression. In response to this tragic predicament, Fr. Andriy Lohin founded four centers to care for those struggling with alcohol addiction and their families. This dynamic priest designed the centers to provide for the physical and spiritual welfare of those suffering the consequences of alcoholism. The centers focus on direct counseling and spiritual therapy, as well as educational outreach to rural villages. Thus far, the program has reached 15,000 people; therapists have conducted more than 350 consultations and visited over 150 villages.

In order for projects like these to continue, your help is needed. Our diocese will take up this collection on Ash Wednesday, March 5. Please be generous in the Collection for the Church in Central and Eastern Europe, where your gifts are restoring the Church and building the future. Thank you and God bless you.

Most Reverend R. Daniel Conlon
Bishop of Joliet
