Note from the Pastor

Am I Not A Mother?

I'm a mother and I will always be a mother. I don't have to hold only my children, but any child I meet now and only is in need of my arms. My daughter, Angie, now lives in me. She lives in her sisters and her brothers: She also lives in other children. She continues to grow, she grew with my love. Today if I meet a young woman at the age of 21 (Angie would be 22 in May) whether she is White, or Asian or Black, I can see Angie in their eyes. The most beauty in this life is that it grows, but never gets old. Where there is life, there is no death. I'm not afraid to die, nor fear death for my husband or the rest of my children. We simply step to the next part of our life, a continuing life, an everlasting life.

Those are the words my daughter TuAnh Holm wrote shortly after she received the police report on the death of her nine year old daughter Ange Michelle who died in a tragic car accident two months earlier. There is nothing more tragic than for a parent to lose a child. It is not as it should be. It is unnatural.

TuAnh wrote that her reaction to her daughter's death was beyond grief. She simply went numb. She writes, "How can one describe the feeling of a mother who endured her labor pain to receive a child, my child (winning) and then lose her baby to a terrible accident? I was not angry at God but really hurt. To give back to God my daughter was not my problem but... jealousy was. I was jealous of Him. I said to Him, 'Why on the day He died, His mother was there by His side and I wasn't there for my little one?' "

I remember the day that Ange Michelle was born at Hinsdale Hospital. TuAnh was a mother for the very first time. And while she loved being a mother, she didn't like all the hospital procedures she had to go through to simply birth a child. That's not how one gave birth in her native Vietnam and then and there she decided that her next child would be born at home. A year and a half later, the next child was on her way. "So what are you going to do?" I remember asking her. "Why, have her at home." "But you live in a barn!" And she really did. At that time she and her husband Lewis were living in a broken down old house near Dwight, IL with one extension cord coming from the main house for electricity and no running water. And she was going to give birth in this squalor with a midwife? She had to be kidding.

TuAnh had already invited me to be present at the birth of her second child and I was already beginning to panic. "How can you do this? Is there a hospital nearby? Is there a doctor nearby?" At that time I was pastor of St. Anne Parish in Oswego and TuAnh informed me that the back-up doctor and hospital would be Copley which was located only a few miles from my Parish. "I'll make you a deal, if you want to have the child at home, and you want me there, then for God's sake at least have it at a place with some electricity, air conditioning (it was August) and indoor plumbing. You can have the baby in my rectory." And then I realized what I had just said. This is going to thrill the bishop (Oh, it is so much easier to ask for forgiveness than for permission).

At 2:00 in the morning on the 5th of August, 1985, I got the call. "Father, we're on our way." At 3:30 they were at the Rectory. The contractions had begun, the midwives were called and they were present. I was nervously running around asking what I can do. One of the midwives suggested that I boil water. Oh boy, oh boy, I thought. As I put the pan full of water on the stove I asked, "What's this for?" "It's for making tea after we are done," the midwife smiled.

Then the real labor began. I had no idea. My mother used to joke that if one man ever felt one labor pain, the world would end. She was right. Labor is, well... labor. And my beloved daughter labored on through the night right up until about 7:45 a.m. Finally the contractions were getting closer. Soon my second grandchild would be born. And even sooner I was scheduled to celebrate the 8:00 a.m. Mass. Now what do I do? At three minutes to eight I rushed over to church and blurted out to the congregants, "We're having a baby in the Rectory!" To which one of my very wise old saints blurted back, "For God's sake, Father, don't preach." Fifteen minutes later I was back in the Rectory.

By now we were ready. The baby was beginning to come out and I heard the midwife exclaim, "I hope that's the head!" I shouted, "I hope that's the head too!" It was. As soon as she crowned, Bingo! She popped right out! I swear the last scream was mine. I was so overwhelmed, so excited, so happy that I volunteered to be the clean up committee. Needless to say, they let me.

There is a wonderful section in John's Gospel that says, "When a woman is in labor she is sad that her time has come. But once she has born her child she no longer remembers her pain for the joy that a child has been born into the world." My beloved daughter had become a mother again. As I held my second granddaughter, Ange Raphaelle in my arms I could not help but marvel at the mystery of life. And in a very special way, the mystery of motherhood.

Today is Mother's Day. Usually on Mother's Day I remember my mother. Today, I remember my daughter. After Raphie was born came Emmanuel, Lewis Anthony, Ange Gabrielle and our newest adopted addition, Heui-Min. It's quite a family. She's quite a mother. But then, I'm just a tad prejudice.

Today I salute not just my daughter, but all of our mothers both living and dead. What makes a mother a mother? She is the one who bears. She carries. She holds. She patiently waits knowing that she is not in control of the new life being knit inside of her. In suffering and pain she gives birth. But the bearing is just beginning. She bears incredible joy as she holds this new life in her arms and asks herself, who in their right mind would entrust this child to me? She bears incredible pain and sorrow until it is transformed into new life. She's a mother and the holy work of a mother is to carry, is to bear, is to embrace and hold on. And while she holds on, she cannot cling because the essence of motherhood is that once she gives life, she must let it go. That's the paradox. That's the mystery.

When my daughter received the police report after the death of her daughter, she could hardly believe what she had read but in reading it, she understood. The state police wrote in his report, "A strange thing, an unknown motorist came out from the crowd, she came to the oldest girl and held her body for a few moments, then she put her down on the side of the street and took off. No one knows who she was, and they didn't get her name." At that moment, TuAnh understood. "Who else could it be but a mother, I am a mother and I will always be a mother. I don't have to hold only my children, but any child I meet now and only is in need of my arms..."

Her Arms, Her Heart and Her Soul,

GARDEN CLUB NEWS

Our spring bulbs are in full bloom – just in time for Easter. Though spring has been a little late this year, our garden helpers have been busy doing cleanup and preparing the gardens for planting later in May. Thanks to everyone who has come out with rakes and gloves on days when it was warm enough to work. Last summer we had enough people to water so that there were only a couple of us that had 2 weeks of watering over the summer. We always welcome new people who might be able to share a little of their time by joining the watering schedule for the summer. If you might be out of town for a time, our Scheduler-In-Chief will surely work around your plans. Free training is provided. You may want to team up with another friend or family for the week. Please call or email Rose Wilkes at 630-833-7238, begonia22@sbcglobal.net for questions.

GAZEBO DEDICATION

Next Sunday, thanks to a most generous gift from the Greco family, we will formally dedicate our gazebo to the Blessed Mother in Honor of the late Emil Greco (EG) and Phyllis Greco (MG). They have recently landscaped the area and put pavers around the Gazebo for more access at outdoor Masses. Thanks to Sis, Phil and the entire family.

Religious Education News

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION NEWS

A special thank you to all who made our First Communion celebrations so wonderful this past weekend. Thanks to our Grade 2 catechists, our music ministers, liturgy planners, parents, and most especially, our children. We are all very proud of you and hope to see you at the Lord's table often.

RE Registrations

June 1 will be here in a few weeks. If you want to register at the discounted fee, get those forms in to the office today. FYI – if you have a preschool or kindergarten child you would like to see in the program next fall, get your registration in today. Those classes fill up quickly and enrollment is limited at those grade levels.

Catechists Needed

We have had some folks respond to our request for help and we thank you. However, we are still in need of catechists at various grade levels at various session times. If you are a loving, welcoming, accepting, forgiving person, you have the most important qualifications for being a catechist. You don't have to be a theologian, just someone who can help our children understand how the Gospel can be applied to their lives. Come share your Faith with the young people of Mary Queen. Call for more info.

For more information on any of the above,
please contact the REO, (630) 832-8962
or email us at re@maryqueen.org.

Mother's Day Tribute

The carnations around the Statue of Mary in the Gathering Space are to honor our mothers and those who have nurtured us. The red carnations are a tribute to those mothers living, and the white carnations are for those deceased. Please remember all in your prayers.
